FIRE PREVENTION

This is fire prevention week of 1930. Extensive programs, designed to keep the matter of fire prevention in the public consciousness for the next five days, have been prepared by the national board of fire underwriters and the insurance department of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

It is obviously of primary interest to business and business men that the annual loss of property and life by fires be diminished.

The work of fire prevention, therefore, falls quite naturally into the functions of the Chamber of Commerce. Business, in turn, has a right to expect that the forces of government will help it in fire prevention work, since the first duty of government is to protect those who support it.

Fire departments, police departments, the department of the state fire marshal and numberless national associations and federal departments all give support to the movement to prevent waste from fire.

The efforts of these organizations, however, can be no more than the efforts of the people; they are successful in direct proportion to the success they have in arousing each citizen to a keen consciousness of the part he can play in safeguarding his own property and all other property with which he comes in contact. Last spring, millions of dollars were wasted in the east when motorists carelessly started forest fires with matches, lighted cigarettes and cigars.

It is a story that is told often and always with the same moral. It is urged that during fire prevention week each person give some thought to his responsibilities in decreasing the number of preventable fires.

No one knows how much already is owing to fire prevention work, but it is a fact that in spite of it, the national fire loss increased approximately $9,000,000 in 1929.

It would have been a large increase, no doubt, had not there been a number of organizations working constantly to keep it within bounds.

In a proclamation signed Sept. 17 by President Hoover, making the week of October 5 national fire prevention week the following two paragraphs appeared:

"The North American continent leads the world in the amount of its annual fire waste, one year of devastating losses following another, each, with but few exceptions, establishing a new high mark in the amount of valuable property burned and in the magnitude of economic losses, property losses alone in 1929 exceeding $470,000,000.

It has been customary to observe national fire prevention week in the effort to instill into every citizen a full understanding of his individual responsibility in the curbing of the mounting losses of property and life through preventable fires."

It is an adequate and clear summary of the purpose of the movement, and the terrific destruction of life and property which necessitates a concerted effort to keep fire losses in check.

What Others Say

TIME FOR RATIONAL SPENDING

The country will be lifted out of its business depression the sooner Secretary Lamont states, if the average person continues to buy normally the things he needs. That contains the counsel of reason.

The Wall street debacle and the consequent slump in business last year did not destroy any old economic law or create any new one. There have been similar periods of depression in this country before. They will probably recur in the future, as long as our present industrial system continues to operate. They have always been followed by recovery and a new lease of prosperity. This one will be no exception as surely as shoes wear out and clothes fade and cars fall to pieces.

While Secretary Lamont does not venture any prediction as to when another peak of prosperity will be reached, what he does do is to turn to government reports for evidence that consumers are taking advantage of present low prices to buy what they need. This is the beginning of the liquidation of stocks which must precede the resumption of productive industry. The return of prosperity naturally will be petty. Sections of the country depending on industries whose stocks are quickly cleared off the shelves will feel it soonest. Gradually their purchasing power will be felt in other sections. This is no time for extravagance, but neither is it a time for those who have money and need commodities to keep their money out of circulation, when by putting it to work they can speed up employment, cut down the outlay of unemployment relief and hasten the return of normal conditions.—Detroit Free Press.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, October 7
A general hazardous and devastating state of affairs is read from the prevailing lunar and mutual configurations. An entirely unforeseen change, of far-reaching consequence, is likely to be precipitated, involving change of employment as well as environment. It may also unhappily affect the personal relations. And while the situation is stubbornly adverse, yet the always unfathomable denouements of Uranian activities lend color to the hope that there may be pleasant surprises in store.

Those whose birthday it is must be assured that they stand at the brink of the unknowable, with the prospect of sudden and unpredictable changes of quite radical importance. Doubtless change of employment and environment are inevitable, all precipitated by a tendency to restlessness and roving, and possibly by ill health. The personal afflictions are likewise imperiled. And yet the element of the uncertain may carry a happy surprise as well.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be nervous, restless, changeable and uncertain, although probably talented and skilled. It will be unconventional, unorthodox and difficult to keep within metes and bounds.

Doing good is the only certainly happy action of man's life.—Sydney.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Diary of a modern Peppys: Out early to market and inquired of a lady I mistook for Louise Groody. "What are you doing here?" and judging me a first she flounced away. So buying Malaga grapes, head cheese, briny Ghetto pickles and the strongest white radishes I ever tasted.

Homeward I recalled the skit where the starving actor McIntyre begs something to eat from the pompous Heath who replies: "Didn't I give you a rad-did-dish Thursday?" And skipping through the house caroling "I bring the rad-did-dishes" but no one laughed—just another Pagliacci!

With my mother-in-law to the Capitol, which has the politest waiters in town, and to dine at an Hawaiian inn but no music, which was the excuse for our visit. Then home and tidings that Douglas Fairbanks was at work on a rousing film, checking off rumors of his retirement. To bed.

Most New York department stores allow employees a percentage on purchases in the establishment, provided it is something worn at work. If a man buys a business suit he receives a reduction but if a sport or dress suit he pays full price. To prevent employees from buying for families or friends at a reduction, they may buy only own sizes in articles and must try them on in the store.

One department store has for years provided a Christmas surprise for D. A. customers—that is customers depositing money for charges against it. On January 1, the firm sends each customer a check for two per cent of the yearly purchases.

The balm has been squeezed out of Gilead this morning. Ten glasses of elegant home made jelly arrived by parcel post smashed to smithereens. And a bear hug for Judge's suggestion to parcel post shippers of ice cream to mark each shipment: "If not delivered in three days never mind."

And John Ringling receives a smart suggestion for billing the man fired out of a cannon across his circus arena daily. It is: "The Big Shot."

Overheard—A maid calls across the board to a maid in another apartment: "I saw Garbo again last night. She's sad-eyed me for the last time!"

New York seeks a better name—and it's about time—for its "Department of Plant and Structures" appearing on city buses as the operating head. Almost everybody believes it is a botanical suggestion like "Plants and Flowers." Thus it is a constant mix-up but the title is really meant to convey building plants and building structures. The singular "Plant" is about as clear as several other things in this Tammany mismanaged town. While improving the name they can improve the buses and not make anybody mad, too.

A psychoanalyst tells me about a patient who, although he stands terrified, visits a local zoo weekly to watch a gliding King cobra slither about a cage. He departs with a raging headache but cannot stay away. A 10-hour-a-day job might break the habit.

I went along with a friend to one of those "by appointment" gymnasiums where they give $25 an hour "treatments." After gravely peering under his eyelids, trying out his knee twitches and other monkey doodles they resorted to the Bowers expedient of "ganging" him. Or so it seemed to me, for they all pounced on him at once as the finale. He hobbles about like a bounding acrobat who tripped on the last camel. You can get the same kind of "treatment" free calling a night club bouncer a big bum. At least I did once.

That fool Boston of mine, just back from a long walk, rushed to a laundry basket, pulled out the lower section of a pair of pajamas, dragged it sideways into our grand parlor, crawled under the piano and is now taking a nap on his back with paws in the air. His idea of comedy is certainly not mine. Also if I were him I'd shuck myself of a few fleas or move over to Third avenue.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Teachers' Health Vital

Our public and private schools are in full swing. Mothers have planned the school clothes for the children, and the children are busy with their lessons.

But what about the teachers? VI—hope they have had a long vacation of relaxation and rest. Some have been traveling and seeing something of the world. Others will have been in the mountains or at the seashore. I trust they have returned to their important work with renewed vigor and good health.

One of the essentials for success in teaching is good health. Teaching is a strenuous job. The demands made upon our teachers are tremendous and exacting. Have you ever thought about their problems? It seems to me that a teacher is in many respects the most important member of society. We trust our children to them not only for supervision in educational matters, but their health, morals and social qualities. She must have infinite patience and tact.

Not only must the teacher have good health, but she must have certain intangible qualities to leadership, personality and common sense, as well as good mental, moral and social qualities. She must have infinite patience and tact.

This public servant must guard her own health well. Since it is her province to teach her pupils how to be well and strong, she must give a good example.

After teaching long hours, the teacher must find time to be outdoors, walking or exercising in some way. She must have sunshine, simple food and abundant sleep if she is to have good health.

Just as every boy and girl should have their teeth and eyes looked after during the long summer vacation, so must the teacher look out for her own organs. Every physical defect or weakness should be attended to promptly.

Everybody needs relaxation and entertainment. Certainly the teacher is no exception to this rule. More and more men are taking up golf, and so are the women. But there are other out-of-door sports that take less time and energy than golf. To have some diversion of this sort keeps the spirit young and the heart gay, and it adds greatly to the state of health.

If the health is kept vigorous the hard work of teaching and discipline looks less formidable. Each day's work takes on added interest and real pleasure.

Columbiana County Authorities Investigate Dual Shooting

MAN ENDS LIFE AFTER WOUNDING MOTHER-IN-LAW

Refusal of Permission To See Wife Brings On Tragedy

Authorities of Columbiana and Stark counties are conducting investigations today into a shooting affair which resulted in the death of one man and wounding of his mother-in-law following a family argument near Alliance Saturday night.

Howard Earl Morris, 37, of 123 South Liberty street, ended his own life by shooting himself through the right temple after he shot Mrs. Norman Woolf, 51, at the latter's home in Knox township. Mrs. Woolf was shot in the right hand and is not seriously hurt.

Sheriff Barlow investigated the shooting conducted by Deputy William Varden and Police Chief Stark of Alliance today disclosed that Morris had driven past Mrs. Woolf's home several times in an effort to see his wife Susan, 32, from whom he had been separated for some time. Mrs. Morris lived with the Woolfs, her parents.

After passing the Woolf residence several times Morris stopped his machine and spoke to Mr. and Mrs. Woolf, who were in the front yard of their home, and asked them to send his wife out to speak with him.

Woolf refused to permit him to speak with Mrs. Morris, his daughter, and ordered him away from the place. Morris repeated his request and then threatened to "do something desperate" unless allowed to see his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolf left him and as they were on the porch of the house Morris started shooting at them with a 38-caliber revolver. The first bullet went wild while the second struck Mrs. Woolf's right hand, shattering a bone in her finger.

Woman Is Shot
She cried out and a few seconds later a third shot with which Morris ended his own life, was heard.

Morris was found lying beside his automobile with a bullet wound in his head. He died one and one-half hours later in Alliance City hospital. Mrs. Woolf was also taken to the hospital, given medical treatment and returned to her home.

Ernest R. Sturges, Columbiana county coroner and Stark County Coroner T. C. McQuate were notified of the affair and were to conduct an inquest this afternoon.

The Woolf residence is located in Columbiana county, a short distance from the Mahoning county line.

LABOR GATHERS FOR CONVENTION

Boston Scene Of Fiftieth Annual Meeting Of Federation

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Representatives of labor in the United States and Canada were assembled here today for the 50th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

President Hoover is to be the guest of the federation a few hours after his appearance at the American Legion's annual convention. Delegates today had before them the annual report of President William R. Green and the executive council, outlining the accomplishments of labor during the past year and a program for its guidance in the future.

This report dealt with the unemployment situation and business conditions. It said that despite conditions during the past year, investigation revealed that experiences in 1921, and 1924 were considered as having been worse for labor.

The council found that "under our present business economy there have been frequent breakdowns due to failure to adjust production to markets and the inability of our credit system to meet such emergency."

Upon business management it placed the responsibility for such breakdowns in the economic system. The world of distribution was declared to be unorganized with only the preliminary moves made to obtain information which would develop better management.

The council, which is composed of 11 of the leading officials of the federation, held that "society has a definite responsibility for providing service for those who need employment."

Pittsburgh Blaze Results In Damage

PITTSBURGH, PA., Oct. 6.—Two firemen were overcome and damage estimated at $25,000 was the outcome today of a fire which swept the Pittsburgh Garter company early today.

The conflagration originated in the store room on the fourth floor of the building where paper boxes and stock supplies had been piled. Donning their gas masks, the firemen responded to the alarm, waded through the thick smoke and fought the outbreak for more than an hour. They managed, however, to check the spread as it threatened the offices of the George V. Hamilton company on the second floor.

EIGHT KILLED WHEN GERMAN PLANE CRASHES

Passenger Liner Accident Cause Unknown By Lufthansa

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Eight persons were killed when a Lufthansa passenger plane carried a pilot, a mechanic and six passengers.

The plane was scheduled to land at Dresden at 9:50 a. m., but fell shortly before for some undetermined cause.

The Lufthansa said the disaster occurred just as the machine was preparing to make a gliding descent down to the Dresden landing place. Some of the passengers still showed signs of life when found.

Two women perished in the accident; their names were given as Fraulin Blumel and Frau Graef. Names of the other four dead passengers are Blackwell, Foeldes, Knittel, and Kuehnelt.

The pilot was Erich Pust, with long service with the Lufthansa. Max Lange was the mechanic.

Cause of the disaster was not ascertained immediately. The weather was perfect for flying. There were no clouds below 2,000 feet and there was visibility for six miles. The plane was preparing a regular landing when an eye witness said, it disappeared behind a tree-covered hill.

The plane was of a type which has been a long time in the Lufthansa service. It accommodated 15 passengers although only six were aboard today.

P. W. Blackwell was a British business man of Shanghai, traveling from Hamburg to Prague. All others aboard were Germans or Austrians. Frau Graef was wife of the Lufthansa representative at Sofia.

PROCEEDS WILL GO TO HIGH SCHOOL BAND

The marionette in this country always has been identified with juvenile entertainment, but this presentation, while appealing directly to young audiences is projected in the manner of continental marionette plays for sophisticated audiences. The Gypsy ballet has the ironic humor of Anatole France in Penguin Island. The international marionette revue is a witty satire on the manners of current revue and musical comedy, and dance recital productions. The audience of children is entertained by the drollery, the adult audience by the subtlety of this marionette program.

The Miracle Picture of the Year! from the Harvard Prize Play Does One Slip Make a Bad Woman?

COMMON CLAY With CONSTANCE BENNETT LEW AYRES... TULLY MARSHALL MATTY KEMP... BERYL MERCER all Talking

The story of a girl who found to her undoing that with many men, a pretty girl is a challenge and a lawful prey.

A rare and altogether inspiring piece of dramatic art which realizes the screen's highest aim to touch real life with sincerity and understanding. It is so far away from any other drama of this generation that it defies comparison or even classification—words cannot describe its sheer sublimity and beauty.

A miracle play that shatters society's conventions and cuts through the shame of man made laws to plead for justice for a girl who has her back to the wall.

COPE-BEDDELL

Miss Wanda E. Cope, of Salem, R. D., and Lyle M. Bedell, of Akron, were the principals in a prettily appointed wedding at noon Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cope, Depot road.

An embankment of autumn leaves, dogwood and garden flowers in front of the fireplace in the living room, made an attractive setting for the ceremony.

While Miss Betty Moss played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bride and groom came into the living room. Just preceding the service, Miss Moss played "At Dawning." Rev. S. A. Mayer, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated, using the ring service.

The bride was attired in a pale blue organdie gown, over blue satin. She carried a spray of pink Columbia roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Lester Emerson, of Salem, wore a yellow chiffon dress and carried a spray of yellow snapdragons. Kie Hartman, of Akron, was the best man.

Dinner was served after the service. Places were arranged for 30 guests, the immediate families of the couple, and a few close friends. A bowl of violets enhanced the bride's table.

Mrs. Bedell is a graduate of Salem High school and attended Allen's Institute of Music, at Alliance. She is known in musical circles in Salem. Mr. Bedell graduated from Alliance High school and attended Allen's Institute of Music. He is employed as dispatcher by the Goodrich company at Akron.

GRAPE GROWERS GIVEN WARNING

Sale Of Fruit For Wine Illegal; No Drive Anticipated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Reported plans of California grape growers and distributors to capitalize the government's liberal attitude toward the home wine-maker have drawn the announcement of Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock that prosecutions would follow any concerted move to market grapes for wine purposes.

Woodcock made it plain that immunity for the householder who desires to make wine for his own use will not apply to those who are seeking to provide wine-making ingredients or utensils on a commercial basis.

"It is against the law knowingly to sell grapes or anything else for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors," he said yesterday. "The whole question of violation hinges on the intent of the seller. The burden of proof rests on the government to show illegal intent."

The statement came after Woodcock's attention had been drawn to grape advertising already beginning to appear in trade journals. He denied that any "drive" against grape concerns was planned and said the matter would be considered in the regular order of enforcement.

47 KILLED AS AIRSHIP FALLS

Dirigible Collapsed In Air, Official Tells Press Association

which successfully crossed the Atlantic and returned last July, was seven hours out of Cardington, en route to Karachi, India, on an 8,000 mile journey when the crash occurred.

After hours of fighting the violent storm which raged over northwest France Sunday morning, the dirigible lost altitude and sometime after 2 a. m. failed to rise above an encircling rim of hills about a valley south of here.

H. J. Leach, engineer of the Royal Airship works and pilot of the ship at the time, gave the most coherent account of the tragedy: "We got into a terrific storm with high winds and the dirigible simply would not rise. I gave her more gas to get her up into the air, but she did not respond."

Heavy Rain Was Falling "Rain was falling in such torrents that our ship was blown down to earth. She bumped twice slightly and then with a terrific impact she buried her nose into the ground. Immediately there came a tremendous explosion, followed by two lesser ones, and flames engulfed the airship."

"I was shot outside a window—I do not know how—and found myself on the ground. At the moment of the catastrophe everybody aboard except myself and assistant navigators were asleep. The motors were turning to perfection. It was the tempest which caused our destruction."

Residents about Pauvaux were awakened first by the motors off the ship as it passed low over their heads.

Heavy Explosion Follows The shock of the explosion which followed the impact with the hillside shook the country for miles around. The peasants there about, unmindful of the torrential rain and wind, ran across muddy fields and through woods to the spot, where pillars of fire rose into the skies and illuminated a vast area thereabout.

The heat stopped them dead a considerable distance away. Much nearer the flames they could see men running about frantically. Attempting to break through the walls of the cabins where their comrades of the flight were imprisoned, one man could be seen at a window with a spanner in his hand attempting to break through and out. The right hand of one of the bodies recovered afterward and unidentified, held a spanner tightly.

By daybreak the fire had settled sufficiently to allow rescue measures to proceed, but there was no hope of finding anyone alive on the ship.

It was noon before all the bodies were recovered. The bodies later in the day were taken to Allene, a village near here. The peasants came with flowers and kindly jacks to adorn the walls and make a fitting temporary resting place for the remains.

Roobers Loot Safe In Liverpool Church

It was the third time in five years that the church had been robbed.

MR. WALDMAN, RUNNING FOR governor of New York on the Socialist ticket, wants the government to buy all public utilities, street cars, subways, railroads, gas, electric light, power, telephones, everything. That, says he, would save $194,000,000 a year for the people.

It might save more if he could hire the present managers of the companies to operate them for the people instead of for dividends.

But, with the present brand of public officials, there is considerable question as to who would get the $194,000,000.

IT IS INTERESTING to know how private ownership of public utilities works sometimes. Interesting figures are mentioned by the governor of New York state.

Private individuals developed a small water power of 200-horsepower, at a cost of $200,000, and covered a considerable territory.

The "big power company" didn't like that and offered $1,000,000, then $1,500,000, and finally $1,800,000 for the 200,000 plant.

The owners said, "take it." Then the big company said to the public service commission, "you certainly can't object to our charging the public enough to yield 8 per cent on $1,800,000, for THAT IS WHAT WE ACTUALLY PAID FOR THE PROPERTY."

Now the little geese that buy electric current have the pleasure of paying for the "generosity" of the big company, paying $1,800,000 for a $200,000 plant to end competition.

HOOVER URGES WAR VETERANS USE INFLUENCE

Enforcement Of Laws Is Plea Of Executive To Legionnaires

rise from the stern demand and the loyal cooperation of good citizenship to the community.

Most Respect Laws
 "We need," he continued, "the teaching that the foundation of government is respect for law."

"A quickened interest on the part of the community and insist upon proper enforcement of law, can arouse public opinion, while any condition of lawlessness remains unchecked in that community."

"You have a part in every town and village. You have it in your power to do much."

Turning to other matters, Mr. Hoover told the veterans that: "The peace of country has never stood more assured than at this moment."

Citing another section of the legion's constitution, "to promote peace and good will on earth," the President declared that two notable steps have recently been taken by his administration toward the goal of international peace. He mentioned the Kellogg-Briand pact for the outlawry of war, and the London naval treaty.

Praises Legion Efforts
 The President praised the efforts of the Legion toward better citizenship, which he asserted, begins at the ballot box.

"The whole plan of self-government," he said, "presupposes that the whole people shall participate in the selection of its officials, the determination of its policies, and the maintenance of its ideals."

Anything less than this involves government by the minority."

Mr. Hoover is the first president who has ever addressed a national convention of the American Legion.

His speech today was the second of the quartet he is making within a week as his contribution to the campaign for control of congress.

After addressing the American Federation of Labor later today, the President will depart for Kings Mountain on the border of the Carolinas, where he will speak tomorrow.

Revolutionists Claim Victory
 Brazilian Situation Now Thought To Be Tense With Reports

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 6.—The Brazilian revolutionary movement, headed by a Francisco Flores Da Cunha, today claimed that seven states had joined the fight against the government of President-elect Julio Prestes.

A message from Da Cunha, who is at Santa Ana Da Livramento, said: "Our movement has gone forward rapidly in Rio Grande Do Sul, where cities and federal garrisons are supporting us."

"The president of the state, Getulio Vargas, informs me that the fifth military area, containing Parana and Santa Catarina, has joined us. The states of Piahy, Ceara, Pernambuco, and Minas Gerais also have come over to the revolution, which has been victorious in all of them. We lack advisers for the movement from Rio De Janeiro and Sao Paulo."

Other advisers here principally emanating from the border town of Rivera, say that the revolutionists have conscripted every man of between 21 and 35 to aid in making war on the Washington Luis administration, and that an army is being got together to move upon Sao Paulo, great seaport and coffee-exporting center.

Following his confession, which involved another prisoner, Richard Sullivan, Bell tipped off authorities to a jail break plot. This, following the confession in the Lingle case, aroused the animosity of other prisoners, and Bell asked that he be kept in a cell by himself, fearing violence from his jail mates.

William Lenhardt, under sentence of death, was the prisoner who plotted escape, Bell revealed. A search of Lenhardt's cell disclosed a pistol, and hacksaw.

A taxicab with a confederate was waiting outside to aid Lenhardt's escape even as Bell told his story.

Warren High Invades Reilly Stadium For Night Game Friday

THE DAY In Sports

WARREN TEAM STRONG

A sincere respect for the strength of the Warren High school football team was present in nine members of the Salem High grid squad as a result of their witnessing the 6-0 victory registered by the team in the ball count down over the previously undefeated Sharon, Pa. grid aggregation Saturday. The score fails to indicate Warren's superiority over Sharon, the team outplaying the former all the way and only the powerful Sharon line kept Warren from rolling up a victory by a margin of at least three touchdowns.

Walter Rogers, heavy Negro backfield man, was again in the limelight and will be the man for Salem High to hold down in the Warren team invades Reilly stadium Friday night.

The relationship between Warren and Salem is an old one, dating back to 1901. In the 15 games the teams have played Salem holds the edge by one victory. Warren will tie the series with a victory Friday while the Red and Black has a chance to advance to a two-game edge. There will be no favorite, apparently, both teams having played one bad game. Salem at Canton McKinley and Warren at Akron East. From all indications it will be one of the most thrilling battles ever played between the two schools.

Here are results of grid games involving future opponents of Salem High:

Youngstown South 6; Cleveland Lakewood 13.

Youngstown East 0; Ashabula 25.

New Philadelphia 0; East Liverpool 20.

Minerva 7; Lisbon 0.

Warren 6; Sharon, Pa. 0.

Wellsville 19; Beaver, Pa. 12.

Wellsville apparently is another team which will give Salem a tough battle. It has its strongest aggregation in years and has not been set back in defeat this season. South High played a great game against the flashy Lakewood outfit while Liverpool's husky combines was too powerful for New Philly.

While a group of Salem players and fans watched Warren in action Saturday night, Coach Hill had several lads at Reilly stadium when the Red and Black ran up its 95-0 victory over Leetonia. The Warren scouts were shown a flashy team which had a triple attack of end runs, line smashes and forward passes while the line was strong. Despite the fact that they witnessed Salem in such an impressive contest it failed to have a depressive or pessimistic effect on the visiting scouts.

To a man they agreed that Warren has a strong team and that Salem High will be defeated Friday. They figure that instead of having had a good effect on Salem to have had an easy game the team will suffer for it.

New Philly Loses To East Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 6.—New Philadelphia High's powerful team sustained a crushing 20-0 defeat at the hands of Coach Leland Schachern's strong East Liverpool High team here Saturday afternoon.

It was the Potters' second victory of the season and brought out much strength in the team. Liverpool scored on a combination of forward passes, line plunges and ends that were consistent ground-gaining plays.

Huddles on scored two touchdowns and Coleman the third.

EAST ROCHESTER

Charles Myers fell from a ladder while picking apples and injured his back and head. He is confined to his home.

P. P. Sanor entertained his brother and their families at his home Sunday. There were 54 present and a basket dinner was enjoyed at noon. Mrs. Sarah Zeppnick, 96 years old, was the oldest person present. She is an aunt of Mr. Sanor. Relatives were present from Canton, Cleveland, Alliance, Salem, Youngstown, Dover, Lisbon, Hanover, Overton, Homewood, New Garden, Moultrie and New Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Shively of Cleveland, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers.

Mrs. A. C. Robbins has returned home from Alliance where she has been assisting in the home of her son, Emmett Robbins.

Mrs. Carrie Ruff entertained members of the Women's Home Missionary society at her home Tuesday afternoon. There were six members present.

Stonemen Defend Big Ten Grid Laurels In Fourth Game Of Year

Coach Pierre Hill's Warren High aggregation, touted as one of North-eastern Ohio's strongest teams, invades Reilly stadium for the fourth game of the 1930 schedule and one of the most important games of the season at 8:30 p. m. Friday. The game involves the Red and Black in a defense of its Big Ten interscholastic title honors with Warren touted as a serious threat to Salem's campaign for a second consecutive championship.

The invading team, under an entirely new coaching regime, has a strong husky group of 1930 veterans with Walter Rogers, 265-pound fullback as its leading offensive threat. Rogers last year ripped through Salem's line for long runs and is one of the Big Ten's outstanding ball-carriers. Burkhardt, pint-sized but heavy quarterback and Davis, Negro halfback, are other Warren stars, while Hill's defensive combination, man for man, rates equal with that of the Stonemen.

One setback, an annihilating 34-0 licking sustained at Akron East, mars Warren's record for the season. That game, however, was played on a Saturday following a hard-fought Friday night battle when Brookfield was trimmed 24-0. The team is considerably stronger than the 1930 crew coached by Sam Earich and which held the undefeated Stonemen to a 6-0 score in the first night game ever played at Reilly stadium.

Play 15 Games

Salem and Warren's gridiron relationship dates back into 1910 and in 15 games played between the two schools the Red and Black holds an edge of one game, having won eight and lost seven in conflicts with the Trumbull counties. In total points

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—This baseball mad metropolis of nearly 1,000,000 people is today simply cuckoo over that ball club they call the Cardinals.

For 24 hours, the town's been "letting off steam." Everywhere you go, the native buttonhole you and ask: "Well, what do you think of those Cards now?" There were imprudent parades in the downtown streets last night. And until the wee small hours this morning, the St. Louis victory over the Philadelphia Athletics that tied the series in a knot, two games to two, were celebrated by dozens of private parties in the various hotels.

Errors Figure In Defeat Of Athletics; Games All Even

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals today were right back where they started the week's series at Shibe park, Philadelphia last Wednesday. With four games behind them, the companions of the American and National leagues stood all even, with two victories each, the home team winning every contest played.

The two St. Louis victories made a new national league "high" since 1925 when the same Cardinals won the series.

After the fifth game today, the battlefield will again be transferred, the players moving back to Philadelphia for at least one contest.

The Cardinals levelled the series by giving 37-year-old Jesse Haines, their knuckle-ball expert, support in keeping with his masterly pitching. The score was 3 to 1 and Lefty Grove, Connie Mack's left-handed ace, was the victim, although the defeat was not entirely the fault of the tall southpaw.

Grove held the Cardinals to five hits, only one more than the total allowed by Haines, but all the safeties were scored in two innings, two in the third and three in the fourth. With perfect support, however, Grove would have escaped with one run scored against him, a bad throw by the usually reliable Jimmy Dykes, permitting the winning run to score. The player put on by the error also scored but this was an unnecessary run. Dykes, as a matter of fact, did not have to throw the ball at all as he could have tagged a base-runner in front of him for the third out.

Haines pitched good enough ball to win most games, world's series or just common ordinary contests during the season. He was nicked for three hits and one run in the first inning, but after that he yielded only one isolated single.

WELLSVILLE, Oct. 6.—A near riot marred a closely fought grid battle won by Wellsville here Saturday afternoon.

Wellsville defeated Beaver, Pa. 19-12. Spectators crowded onto the gridiron when players of the two teams clashed in a fistie battle but the riot was quelled quickly.

France "puts a curb on Soviet dumping." The sale of goods from Russia requires a special license.

Scotch merchants will have nothing to do with Russian wheat, landed at the port of Aberdeen.

Our government will co-operate to prevent Russian wheat and other dumping, and various important industries are combining to fight the "Russian menace."

Meanwhile, Russia proceeds along the line marked out, fighting foreign "capitalistic" governments with an unexpected display of commercial ingenuity, and disposing promptly of enemies at home.

THREE HUNDRED SOCIALISTS, former leaders in the movement for Russian freedom, are arrested as "foes of Stalin." They include the old Jewish Socialist, Mark Lieber, according to the Jewish Daily Forward. Russia seems to adopt Mohammed's cry, "be converted, or die."

GEORGE RUSSELL, known as "AE," now lecturing in America, talks common sense in farming. He does not urge any "back to the farm" movement, knowing that once in the city, men from the farms rarely go back.

His mission is to persuade people to stay on their farms and make them better by increasing production on smaller acreage and build up a country life more worthy of human beings.

"AE" is interested especially, as the government and everybody else should be, in our "one-horse farmers," numbering 7,000,000.

These farmer millions have an average yearly cash income of about $400. Their wives and children have little opportunity for enjoyment. No wonder they leave the farms.

"AE" would persuade them to stay by making farm life happier.

Golfers, proud of a 300-yard drive, have looked disdainfully on "Tom Thumb" golf courses as "useless." They will revise their mental attitude, learning

DIRECTORY ESTIMATES POPULATION OF SALEM AT 12,512 INHABITANTS

Interesting Names Uncovered Here As Guide For 1930 Is Completed; 6,815 Names Listed; Other Data Furnished

The last link of the chain of tasks necessary in the production of the Salem city directory, from the gathering of names to the distribution of the completed book, was accomplished today, when the publishers, R. L. Polk & Co., released the 1930 edition to subscribers.

Excluding wives, whose given names appear in parentheses after the names of their husbands, there is an average of forty-seven names to the page.

Since the alphabetical section of the new Salem directory comprises 145 full pages, there is a total of approximately 6,815 names listed. The directory publishers make allowance for those under directory age, so obtaining an estimated population of 12,512.

Territory immediately adjacent, which is a part of the city, as far as business and social life are concerned, is also included in this estimate.

Contains Several Departments

The alphabetical list of names constitute nearly half the content of the volume. However, the other departments included make up for their brevity by the utility of their information, some of which may be found nowhere else in a single volume.

HOOPER URGES WAR VETERANS USE INFLUENCE

Enforcement Of Laws Is Plea Of Executive To Legionnaires

(By International News Service) BOSTON, Oct. 6.—President Hoover today called upon members of the American Legion to enlist in the cause of law enforcement, just as 13 years ago, they enlisted for the defense of the nation.

They can be suggested exert a vast influence through their 11,000 posts for better citizenship.

Mr. Hoover mentioned no particular law in his address to the legionnaires, assembled here in their 12th annual convention, but many of his hearers read into his remarks an indirect reference to the freely-violated prohibition law.

As the text of his speech to the veterans, the President took their own declaration of purposes at the time the legion was founded in Paris right after the war—"to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States; to maintain law and order, etc."

GREAT BRITAIN MOURNS FOR TRAGEDY VICTIMS

Great Ship Was Innovation In Dirigibles With Oil Burning Motors; Search For Reason Of Crash And Following Explosion

LONDON, Oct. 6.—While all Britain mourned the tragic end of the R-101, and 47 of the 54 men aboard the airship, theories of the causes of the disaster were discussed.

These theories ranged from structural defects to inability to manoeuvre the giant vessel in a storm.

The idea that the ship became uncontrollable in the storm came from the story of French people living near the scene of the tragedy. They told British air officials that the ship at an altitude of only 400 feet seemed to be having engine difficulties and was unmanageable.

H. J. Leach pilot of the ship denied this.

South of Beauvais the ship bumped against the ground lightly several times and then falling to rise above the rim of the valley, crashed into the hillside. An immediate explosion followed, Leach believes an electrical connection may have been broken by the impact causing an electrical spark to fire the highly explosive hydrogen or lifting gas.

No one in authority lays any significance to the fact that smoking was permitted on the ship.

The R-101 was the largest dirigible in the world with a bulk of 5,000,000 cubic feet and a length of 775 feet. A radical step forward in her construction was the introduction of crude oil burning engines in place of gasoline engines heretofore in general use, a reform which greatly reduced the fire risk.

On gasoline-driven airships smoking is not permissible because of the danger of fire causing an explosion but there was no order against smoking.

There were five motors on the R-101 as compared with six on the R-100. Four of the units were in pairs located some distance behind the passenger accommodation, while the fifth hung from the center line near the rear end of the ship so situated that it would give a good flow of air to the rudder.

As originally designed the R-101 was 732 feet long with an estimated lift of 150 tons. An extra bay was later inserted to take care of the extra lift required for the heavier oil engines decided upon. This brought her length to 775 feet.

Messages of condolence were received by the government from all over the world.

Boost For Knute

SANTA MONICA, CAL., Oct. 5.—I don't know whether my old friend Knute Rockne and Notre Dame are going to win the world's championship again this fall or not.

But he deserves it if they win another game. For they are the only big team in the United States that started playing tough teams right from the jump.

These others play Rotary clubs and business colleges till about Thanksgiving, then have one tough game. Knute thinks if you got a football team, it ought to be a football team from the Fourth of July to Xmas.

I told the Athletics all the time not to win their pennant. If St. Louis was theirs.

FIRE PREVENTION

This is fire prevention week of 1930. Extensive programs, designed to keep the matter of fire prevention in the public consciousness for the next five days, have been prepared by the national board of fire underwriters and the insurance department of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

It is obviously of primary interest to business and business men that the annual loss of property and life by fires be diminished.

The work of fire prevention, therefore, falls quite naturally into the functions of the Chamber of Commerce. Business, in turn, has a right to expect that the forces of government will help it in fire prevention work, since the first duty of government is to protect those who support it.

Fire departments, police departments, the department of the state fire marshal and numberless national associations and federal departments all give support to the movement to prevent waste from fire.

The efforts of these organizations, however, can be no more than the efforts of the people; they are successful in direct proportion to the success they have in arousing each citizen to a keen consciousness of the part he can play in safeguarding his own property and all other property with which he comes in contact. Last spring, millions of dollars were wasted in the east when motorists carelessly started forest fires with matches, lighted cigars and cigars.

It is a story that is told often and always with the same moral. It is urged that during fire prevention week each person give some thought to his responsibilities in decreasing the number of preventable fires.

No one knows how much already is owing to fire prevention work, but it is a fact that in spite of it, the national fire loss increased approximately $9,000,000 in 1929.

It would have been a large increase, no doubt, had not there been a number of organizations working constantly to keep it within bounds.

In a proclamation signed Sept. 17 by President Hoover, making the week of October 5 national fire prevention week the following two paragraphs appeared:

"The North American continent leads the world in the amount of its annual fire waste, one year of devastating losses following another, each, with but few exceptions, establishing a new high mark in the amount of valuable property burned and in the magnitude of economic losses. Property losses alone in 1929 exceeded $470,000,000.

It has been customary to observe national fire prevention week in the effort to instill into every citizen a full understanding of his individual responsibility in the curbing of the mounting losses of property and life through preventable fires.

It is an adequate and clear summary of the purpose of the movement, and the terrific destruction of life and property which necessitates a concerted effort to keep fire losses in check.

The Wall street debacle and the consequent slump in business last year did not destroy any old economic law or create any new one. There have been similar periods of depression in this country before. They will probably recur in the future, as long as our present industrial system continues to operate. They have always been followed by recovery and a new lease of prosperity. This one will be no exception as surely as shoes wear out and clothes fade and cars fall to pieces, all demanding replacement.

While Secretary Lamont does not venture any prediction as to when another peak of prosperity will be reached, what he does do is to turn to government reports for evidence that consumers are taking advantage of present low prices to buy what they need. This is the beginning of the liquidation of stocks which must precede the resumption of productive industry. The return of prosperity naturally will be spotty. Sections of the country depending on industries whose stocks are quickly cleared off the shelves will feel it soonest. Gradually their purchasing power will be felt in other sections. This is no time for extravagance, but neither is it a time for those who have money and need commodities to keep their money out of circulation, when by putting it to work they can speed up employment, cut down the outlay of unemployment relief and thus hasten the return of normal conditions—Detroit Free Press.

For Tuesday, October 7

A general hazardous and devastating state of affairs is read from the prevailing lunar and mutual configurations. An entirely unforeseen change, of far-reaching consequence, is likely to be precipitated, involving change of employment as well as environment. It may also unfavorably affect the personal relations. And, while the situation is stubbornly adverse, yet the always unfathomable denouements of Uranian activities lend color to the hope that there may be pleasant surprises in store.

Those whose birthday it is must be assured that they stand at the brink of the unknowable, with the prospect of sudden and unpredictable changes of quite radical importance. Doubtless change of employment and environment are inevitable, all precipitated by a tendency to restlessness and roving, and possibly by ill health. The personal affiliations are likewise impeded. And yet the element of the uncertain may carry a happy surprise as well.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be nervous, restless, changeable and uncertain, although probably talented and skilled. It will be unconventional, unorthodox and difficult to keep within metes and bounds.

Doing good is the only certainly happy action of man's life.—Sydney.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Diary of a modern Peppy: Out early to market and inquired of a lady I mistook for Louise Good. "What are you doing here?" and judging me a flirt she flounced away. So buying Malaga grapes, head cheese, briny Ghetto pickles and the strongest white radishes I ever tasted.

Homeward I recalled the skill where the starving actor McIntyre was something to eat from the pompous Heath who replies: "Didn't I give you a rad-did-dish Thursday?" And skipping through the house caroling: "I bring the rad-did-dishes" but no one laughed—just another Pagliacci!

With my mother-in-law to the Capitol, which has the politest waiters in town, and to dine at an Hawaiian inn but no music, which was the excuse for our visit. Then home and tidings that Douglas Fairbanks was at work on a rousing film, checking off rumors of his retirement. To bed.

Most New York department stores allow employees a percentage on purchases in the establishment, provided it is something worn at work. If a man buys a business suit he receives a reduction but if a sport or dress suit, he pays full price. To prevent employees from buying for families or friends at a reduction, they may buy only own sizes in articles and must try them on in the store.

One department store has for years provided a Christmas surprise for D. A. customers—that is customers depositing money for charges against it. On January 1, the firm sends each customer a check for two per cent of the yearly purchases.

The balm has been squeezed out of Gilead this morning. Ten glasses of elegant home made jelly arrived by parcel post smashed to smithereens. And a bear hug for Judge's suggestion to parcel post shippers of ice cream to mark each shipment: "If not delivered in three days never mind."

And John Ringling receives a smart suggestion for billing the man fired out of a cannon across his circus arena daily. It is: "This Big Shot."

Overheard—A maid calls across the court to a maid in another apartment: "I saw Garbo again last night. She's sad-eyed me for the last time!"

New York seeks a better name—and it's about time—for its "Department of Plant and Structures" appearing on city buses as the operating head. Almost everybody believes it is a botanical suggestion like "Plants and Flowers." Thus it is a constant mix-up but the title is really meant to convey building plants and building structures. The singular "Plant" is about as clear as several other things in this Tammany mismanaged town. While improving the name they can improve the buses and not make anybody mad, too.

And while knee-deep in this uplift work we wish some semi-civil factory would send an expert to show the correct way to place their wares. In a magazine piece cut today I have three where they haven't any business to be at all. I'm a dash boy anyway.

A psychoanalyst tells me about a patient who, although he stands terrorized, visits a local zoo weekly to watch a gliding King cobra slither about a cage. He departs with a raging headache but cannot stay away. A 10-hour-a-day job might break the habit.

I went along with a friend to one of those "by appointment" gymnasiums where they give $25 an hour "treatments." After gravely pecking under his eyelids, trying out his knee twitches and other monkey doodles they resorted to the Bowers expedient of "gassing" him. Or so it seemed to me, for they all pounced on him at once as the finale. He hobbles about like a bounding acrobat who tripped on the last camel. You can get the same kind of "treatment" free calling a night club bouncer a big bum. At least I did once.

That fool Boston of mine, just back from a long walk, rushed to a laundry basket, pulled out the lower section of a pair of pajamas, dragged it aside into our grand parlor, crawled under the piano and is now taking a nap on his back with paws in the air. His idea of comedy is certainly not mine. Also if I were him I'd shuck myself of a few fleas or move over to Third avenue.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Teachers' Health Vital

Our public and private schools are in full swing. Mothers have planned the school clothes for the children, and the children are busy with their lessons.

But what about the teachers? Vt. hope they have had a long vacation of relaxation and rest. Some have been traveling and using something of the world. Others will have been in the mountains or at the seashore. I trust they have returned to their important work with renewed vigor and good health.

One of the essentials for success in teaching is good health. Teaching is a strenuous job. This demands made upon our teachers are tremendous and exacting. Have you ever thought about their problems? It seems to me that a teacher is in many respects the most important member of society. We trust our children to them not only for supervision in educational matters, but their health, morals and social supervision are in the teachers' hands.

Not only must the teacher have good health, but she must have certain intangible qualities for leadership, personality and common sense, as well as good mental, moral and social qualities. She must have infinite patience and tact.

This public servant must guard her own health well. Since it is her province to teach her pupils how to be well and strong, she must give a good example.

After teaching long hours, the teacher must find time to be out-of-doors, walking or exercising in some way. She must have sunshine, simple food and abundant sleep if she is to have good health. Just as every boy and girl should have their teeth and eyes looked after during the long summer vacation, so must the teacher look out for her own organs. Every physical defect or weakness should be attended to promptly.

Everybody needs relaxation and entertainment. Certainly the teacher is no exception to this rule. More and more men are taking up golf, and so are the women. But there are other out-of-door sports that take less time and energy than golf. To have some diversion of this sort keeps the spirit young and the heart gay, and it adds greatly to the store of health.

If the health is kept vigorous, the hard work of teaching and discipline looks less formidable. Each day's work takes on added interest and real pleasure.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the nose clear, preparation is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold: whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime? Adv

Columbiana County Authorities Investigate Dual Shooting

MAN ENDS LIFE AFTER WOUNDING MOTHER-IN-LAW

Refusal of Permission To See Wife Brings On Tragedy

Authorities of Columbiana and Stark counties are conducting investigations today into a shooting affair which resulted in the death of one man and wounding of his mother-in-law following a family argument near Alliance Saturday night.

Howard Earl Morris, 37, of 123 South Liberty street, ended his own life by shooting himself through the right temple after he shot Mrs. Norman Woolf, 51, at the latter's home in Knox township. Mrs. Woolf was shot in the right hand and is not seriously hurt.

Sheriff Barlow Investigates

Investigations conducted by Sheriff William Barlow with Deputy William Virden and Police Chief Stark of Alliance today disclosed that Morris had driven past Mrs. Woolf's home several times in an effort to see his wife Susan, 32, from whom he had been separated for some time. Mrs. Morris lived with the Woolfs, her parents.

After passing the Woolf residence several times Morris stopped his machine and spoke to Mr. and Mrs. Woolf, who were in the front yard of their home, and asked them to send his wife out to speak with him.

Woolf refused to permit him to speak with Mrs. Morris, his daughter, and ordered him away from the place. Morris repeated his request and then threatened to "do something desperate" unless allowed to see his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolf left him and as they were on the porch of the house Morris started shooting at them with a .32-caliber revolver. The first bullet went while the second struck Mrs. Woolf's right hand, shattering a bone in her finger.

Woman Is Shot

She cried out and a few seconds later a third shot with which Morris ended his own life, was heard.

Morris was found lying beside his automobile with a bullet wound in his head. He died one and one-half hours later in Alliance City hospital. Mrs. Woolf was also taken to the hospital given medical treatment and returned to her home.

Ernest R. Sturgis, Columbiana county coroner and Stark County Coroner T. C. McQuate were notified of the affair and were to conduct an inquest this afternoon.

The Woolf residence is located in Columbiana county, a short distance from the Mahoning county line.

LABOR GATHERS FOR CONVENTION

Boston Scene Of Fiftieth Annual Meeting Of Federation

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Representatives of labor in the United States and Canada were assembled here today for the 50th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

President Hoover is to be the guest of the federation a few hours after his appearance at the American Legion's annual convention.

Delegates today had before them the annual report of President William E. Green and the executive council, outlining the accomplishments of labor during the past year and a program for its guidance in the future.

This report dealt with the unemployment situation and business conditions. It said that despite conditions during the past year, investigation revealed that experiences in 1921, and 1924 were considered as having been worse for labor.

The council found that "under our present business economy there have been frequent breakdowns due to failure to adjust production to markets and the inability of our credit system to meet such emergency."

Upon business management it placed the responsibility for such breakdowns in the economic system. The world of distribution was declared to be unorganized with only the preliminary moves made to obtain information which would develop better management.

The council, which is composed of 11 of the leading officials of the federation, held that "society has a definite responsibility for providing service for those who need employment."

Pittsburgh Blaze Results In Damage

PITTSBURGH, PA., Oct. 6.—Two firemen were overcome and damage estimated at $25,000 was the outcome today of a fire which swept the Pittsburgh Garter company early today.

The conflagration originated in the store room on the fourth floor of the building where paper garters and stock supplies had been piled. Donning their gas masks, the firemen responded to the alarm, waded through the thick smoke and fought the outbreak for more than an hour. They managed, however, to check the spread as it threatened the offices of the George V. Hamilton company on the second floor.

County Fair Board To Elect Officers

LISBON, Oct. 6.—The annual election for directors for the Columbiana County Agricultural society will be held at the court house here between 1 and 3 o'clock the afternoon of Nov. 1.

Only bona fide members of the society are permitted to cast a ballot at this election.

Nominations for members of the board will be made at the office of Secretary H. E. Marsden between 10:30 and noon the same day.

Because of the success of the county fair here last month, it is the opinion of the directors that this success can be duplicated next season by the featuring of attractions equally as interesting as the rodeo feature last month.

Miss Wanda E. Cope of Salem, R. D., and Lyle M. Bedell, of Akron, were the principals in a pretty appointed wedding at noon Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cope, Depot Road.

An embankment of autumn leaves, dogwood and garden flowers in front of the fireplace in the living room, made an attractive setting for the ceremony.

While Miss Betty Moss played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bride came into the living room. Just preceding the service Miss Moss played "At Dawning." Rev. S. A. Mayer, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated, using the ring service.

The bride was attired in a pale blue organdie gown, over blue satin. She carried a spray of pink Columbia roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Lester Emerson of Salem, wore a yellow chiffon dress and carried a spray of yellow snapdragons. Kie Hartman, of Akron, was the best man.

Dinner was served after the service. Places were arranged for 30 guests, the immediate families of the couple, and a few close friends. A bowl of violets enhanced the bride's table.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and breaks the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing

Children Deserted By Father, Mother

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—Four small children of a Batavia, N. Y., family who were left stranded in an automobile by their parents here Saturday and not discovered by police until 24 hours later, were expected to be taken back to their home today.

In the meantime, police are making an effort to locate Lucien Benedict, father of the children, who parked the auto on one of Cleveland's downtown streets and left it and the four children, taking Jimmy, his three-year-old son with him.

The mother of the children was picked up by police in a local hotel. She told authorities she had gotten out of the car after an argument with her husband and had been attempting to obtain money from relatives in Batavia for her return home.

GRAPE GROWERS GIVEN WARNING

Sale Of Fruit For Wine Illegal; No Drive Anticipated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Reported plans of California grape growers and distributors to capitalize the government's liberal attitude toward the home wine-maker have drawn the announcement of Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock that prosecutions would follow any concerted move to market grapes for wine purposes.

Woodcock made it plain that immunity for the homeholder who desires to make wine for his own use will not apply to those who are seeking to provide wine-making ingredients or utensils on a commercial basis.

"It is against the law knowingly to sell grapes or anything else for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors," he said yesterday. "The whole question of violation hinges on the intent of the seller. The burden of proof rests on the government to show illegal intent."

The statement came after Woodcock's attention had been drawn to grape advertising already beginning to appear in trade journals. He denied that any "drive" against grape concerns was planned and said the matter would be considered in the regular order of enforcement.

47 KILLED AS AIRSHIP FALLS

Dirigible Collapsed In Air, Official Tells Press Association

which successfully crossed the Atlantic and returned last July was seven hours out of Cardington en route to Karachi, India, on an 8,600-mile journey when the crash occurred.

After hours of fighting the violent storm which raged over northwest France Sunday morning, the dirigible lost altitude and sometime after 2 a. m. failed to rise above an encircling rim of hills about a valley south of here.

H. J. Leach, engineer of the Royal Airship works and pilot of the ship at the time, gave the most coherent account of the tragedy: "We got into a terrific storm with high winds and the dirigible simply would not rise. I gave her more gas to get her up into the air, but she did not respond."

Heavy Rain Was Falling "Rain was falling in such torrents that our ship was blown down to earth. She bumped twice, slightly and then with a terrific impact she buried her nose into the ground. Immediately there came a tremendous explosion, followed by two lesser ones, and flames engulfed the airship."

"I was shot outside a window—I do not know how—and found myself on the ground. At the moment of the catastrophe everybody aboard except myself and assistant navigators were asleep. The motors were turning to perfection. It was the tempest which caused our destruction."

Resident's about Beauvais were awakened first by the motors off the ship as it passed low over their heads.

Heavy Explosion Follows

The shock of the explosion which followed the impact with the hill-side shook the country for miles around. The peasants there about, unmindful of the torrential rain and wind, ran across muddy fields and through woods to the spot, where pillars of fire rose into the skies and illuminated a vast area thereabout.

The heat stopped them dead a considerable distance away. Much nearer the flames they could see men, running about frantically. Attempting to break through the walls of the cabins where their comrades of the flight were imprisoned, one man could be seen at a window with a spanner in his hand attempting to break through and out. The right hand of one of the bodies recovered afterward and unidentified, held a spanner tightly.

By daybreak the fire had settled sufficiently to allow rescue measures to proceed, but there was no hope of finding anyone alive on the ship.

It was noon before all the bodies were recovered. The bodies later in the day were taken to Allone, a village near here. The peasants came with flowers and kindly jacks to adorn the walls and make a fitting temporary resting place for the remains.

Doctors say the little game will give mental invalids an amusing reality to occupy them, and make them forget their morbid fancies.

MR. WALDMAN, RUNNING FOR governor of New York on the Socialist ticket, wants the government to buy all public utilities, street cars, subways, railroads, gas, electric light, power, telephones, everything. That, says he, would save $194,000,000 a year for the people.

It might save more if he could hire the present managers of the companies to operate them for the people instead of for dividends.

But, with the present brand of public officials, there is considerable question as to who would get the $194,000,000.

IT IS INTERESTING to know how private ownership of public utilities works sometimes. Interesting figures are mentioned by the governor of New York state. Private individuals developed a small water power of 200-horsepower, at a cost of $208,000, and covered a considerable territory.

The "big power company" didn't like that and offered $1,000,000, then $1,500,000, and finally $1,800,000, for the 200,000 plant.

The owners said, "take it." Then the big company said to the public service commission, "you certainly can't object to our charging the public enough to yield 8 per cent on $1,800,000, for THAT IS WHAT WE ACTUALLY PAID FOR THE PROPERTY."

Now the little grease that buy electric current have the pleasure of paying for the "generosity" of the big company, paying $1,800,000 for a $208,000 plant to end competition.

HOOVER URGES WAR VETERANS USE INFLUENCE

Enforcement Of Laws Is Plea Of Executive To Legionnaires

rise from the stern demand and the loyal cooperation of good citizenship and individual responsibility to the community.

Must Respect Laws

"We need," he continued, "the teaching that the foundation of government is respect for law. A quickened interest on the part of the community and insist upon proper enforcement of law, can arouse public opinion, while any condition of lawlessness remains unchecked in that community. You have a post in every town and village. You have it in your power to do much."

Turning to other matters, Mr. Hoover told the veterans that: "The peace of country has never stood more assured than at this moment."

Citing another section of the legion's constitution, "to promote peace and good will on earth," the President declared that two notable steps have recently been taken by his administration toward the goal of international peace. He mentioned the Kellogg-Briand pact for the outlawry of war, and the London naval treaty.

Praises Legion Efforts

The President praised the efforts of the Legion toward better citizenship, which he asserted, begins at the ballot box.

"The whole plan of self-government," he said, "presupposes that the whole people shall participate in the selection of its officials, the determination of its policies, and the maintenance of its ideals. Anything less than this involves government by the minority."

Mr. Hoover is the first president who has ever addressed a national convention of the American Legion. His speech today was the second of the quartet he is making within a week at his contribution to the campaign for control of congress.

After addressing the American Federation of Labor later today, the President will depart for Kings Mountain, on the border of the Carolinas, where he will speak tomorrow.

STATE INFORMER FEARS FOR LIFE

Special Guard Placed In Connection With Man Who Confessed

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Frank H. Bell, the county jail prisoner whose confession last week gave authorities new information concerning the murder of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter was held under special guard today in fear for his life.

Following his confession, which involved another prisoner, Richard Sullivan, Bell tipped off authorities to a jail break plot. This, following the confession in the Lingle case, aroused the animosity of other prisoners, and Bell asked that he be kept in a cell by himself, fearing violence from his jail mates.

William Lenhardt, under sentence of death, was the prisoner who plotted escape, Bell revealed. A search of Lenhardt's cell disclosed a pistol, and hacksaw.

A laxback with a confederate was waving outside to aid Lenhardt's escape even as Bell told his story.

In addition to being placed under special guard for his own protection, Bell will be given food cooked especially for him. This is to guard against any possibility of poisoning.

Warren High Invades Reilly Stadium For Night Game Friday

THE DAY In Sports

WARREN TEAM STRONG

A sincere respect for the strength of the Warren High school football team was present in nine members of the Salem High grid squad as a result of their witnessing the 6-0 victory registered by the Trumbull countians over the previously undefeated Sharon, Pa. grid aggregation Saturday. The score falls to indicate Warren's superiority over Sharon, the team outplaying the former all the way and only the powerful Sharon line kept Warren from rolling up a victory by a margin of at least three touchdowns.

Walter Rogers, heavy Negro backfield man, was again in the limelight and will be the man for Salem High to hold down when the Warren team invades Reilly stadium Friday night.

The relationship between Warren and Salem is an old one, dating back to 1901. In the 15 games the teams have played Salem holds the edge by one victory. Warren will tie the series with a victory Friday while the Red and Black has a chance to advance to a two-game edge. There will be no favorite, apparently, both teams having played one bad game. Salem at Canton McKinley and Warren at Akron East. From all indications it will be one of the most thrilling battles ever played between the two schools.

Here are results of grid games involving future opponents of Salem High:

Youngstown South 6; Cleveland Lakewood 13.
Youngstown East 6; Ashtabula 25.
New Philadelphia 0; East Liverpool 20.
Minerva 7; Lisbon 0.
Warren 6; Sharon, Pa. 0.
Wellsville 19; Beaver, Pa. 12.

Wellsville apparently is another team which will give Salem a tough battle. It has its strongest aggregation in years and has not been set back in defeat this season. South High played a great game against the flashy Lakewood outfit while Liverpool's husky combines was too powerful for New Philly.

While a group of Salem players and fans watched Warren in action Saturday night, Coach Hill had several lads at Reilly stadium when the Red and Black ran up its 95-0 victory over Leetonia. The Warren scouts were shown a flashy team which had a triple attack of end runs, line smashes and forward passes while the line was strong. Despite the fact that they witnessed Salem in such an impressive contest it failed to have a depressive or pessimistic effect on the visiting scouts.

To a man they agreed that Warren has a strong team and that Salem High will be defeated Friday. They figure that instead of having had a good effect on Salem to have had an easy game the team will suffer for it.

Teddy Yeros, youthful Monaca, Pa., welterweight, who recently jumped into prominence in the Pittsburgh district by decisively defeating Tiger Joe Randall, heretofore the outstanding puncher of the Smoky City's 147-pound coterie, will face Benny Burns, Akron's globe trotting pugilist, in a 10-round bout in East Liverpool Tuesday night.

The scrap will be the top feature of the first indoor boxing show of the season. Matchmaker Ray Pettit, who conducted open air boxing here this summer, has leased the Eagles' auditorium for the cold weather battles. Leo Genet of Akron and Jimmy McGraw of Martins Ferry will appear in the six-round semi-final.

New Philly Loses To East Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 6.—New Philadelphia High's powerful team sustained a crushing 20-0 defeat at the hands of Coach Leland Schachern's strong East Liverpool High team here Saturday afternoon.

It was the Potters' second victory of the season and brought out much strength in the team. Liverpool scored on a combination of forward passes, line plunges and ends that were consistent ground-gaining plays.

Huddleson scored two touchdowns and Coleman the third.

EAST ROCHESTER

Charles Myers fell from a ladder while picking apples and injured his back and head. He is confined to his home.

F. P. Sanor entertained his brother and their families at his home Sunday. There were 534 present and a basket dinner was enjoyed at noon. Mrs. Sarah Zeppernick, 90 years old, was the oldest person present. She is an aunt of Mr. Sanor. Relatives were present from Canton, Cleveland, Alliance, Salem, Youngstown, Dover, Lisbon, Hanoverton, Homeworth, New Garden, Moultrie and New Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Shively of Cleveland, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers.

Mrs. A. C. Robbins has returned home from Alliance where she has been assisting in the home of her son, Emmett Robbins.

Mrs. Carrie Ruff entertained members of the Women's Home Missionary society at her home. Tuesday afternoon. There were six members present.

Stonemen Defend Big Ten Grid Laurels In Fourth Game Of Year

Coach Pierre Hill's Warren High aggregation, touted as one of North-eastern Ohio's strongest teams, invades Reilly athletic stadium for Salem High school's fourth grid battle of the 1930 schedule and one of the most important games of the season at 7:30 p. m. Friday. The game involves the Red and Black in a defense of its Big Ten interscholastic title honors with Warren touted as a serious threat to Salem's campaign for a second consecutive championship.

The invading team, under an entirely new coaching regime, has a strong, husky group of 1930 veterans with Walter Rogers, 200-pound fullback as its leading offensive threat. Rogers last year ripped through Salem's line for long runs and is one of the Big Ten's outstanding half-carriers. Burkhardt, pint-sized but heavy quarterback, and Davis, Negro halfback, are other Warren stars, while Hill's defensive combination, man for man, rates equal with that of the Stonemen.

One setback, an annihilating 34-0 licking sustained at Akron East, mars Warren's record for the season. That game, however, was played on a Saturday following a hard-fought Friday night battle when Brookfield was trimmed 24-0. The team is considerably stronger than the 1929 crew coached by Sam Earich and which held the undefeated Stonemen to a 6-0 score in the first night game ever played at Reilly stadium.

Play 15 Games
Salem and Warren's gridiron relationship dates back into 1910 and in 15 games played between the two schools the Red and Black holds an edge of one game, having won eight and lost seven in conflicts with the Trumbull countians. In total points scored Salem holds the big margin of having amassed 290 to Warren's 164.

Rivalry in the past decade has been especially keen between the two schools, Warren replacing, to a certain extent, Columbiana county teams as the Red and Black's serious district adversary. Games played in 1929 and the year previous were among most hotly contested on both teams' schedules. Salem winning by one touchdown mark each time.

This year, in that Warren is touted as a titular contender in the Year-old Big Ten interscholastic league, a large gathering of fans is anticipated at the Salem athletic field. At least 500 are expected here from the Trumbull county city while Salem's representation will bring the total attendance far above the 2,000 mark.

Nine members of the Salem team definitely showed that the 34-0 defeat at Akron was due to a large extent to the game played the night before. East would probably have defeated Warren, as the Akron team is one of the strongest in the district, but by no more than two touchdowns, had not Hill's team played the night previous.

Rogers gained consistently against Sharon and will be the team's main offensive threat against Salem. With Davis another Negro youth of offensive power, Warren has a ball carrying duo that rates high, while Burkhardt, safety man and quarterback, plays consistently well.

Errors Figure In Defeat Of Athletics; Games All Even

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals today were right back where they started one week series at Shibe park, Philadelphia last Wednesday. With four games behind them, the companions of the American and National leagues stood all even, with two victories each, the home team winning every contest played. The two St. Louis victories made a new national league "high" since 1926 when the same Cardinals won the series.

After the fifth game today, the battlefield will again be transferred, the players moving back to Philadelphia for at least one contest.

The Cardinals levelled the series by giving 37-year-old Jesse Haines, their knuckle-ball expert, support in keeping with his masterly pitching. The score was 3 to 1 and Lefty Grove, Connie Mack's left-handed ace, was the victim, although the defeat was not entirely the fault of the tall southpaw.

Grove held the Cardinals to five hits, only one more than the total allowed by Haines, but all the safeties were scored in two innings, two in the third and three in the fourth. With perfect support, however, Grove would have escaped with one run scored against him, a bad throw by the usually reliable Jimmy Dykes, permitting the winning run to score. The player put on by the error also scored but this was an unnecessary run. Dykes, as a matter of fact, did not have to throw the ball at all as he could have tagged a base-runner in front of him for the third out.

Haines pitched good enough ball to win most games, world's series or just common ordinary contests during the season. He was nipped for three hits and one run in the first inning, but after that he yielded only one isolated single.

Near Riot Occurs As Players Clash

WELLSVILLE, Oct. 6.—A near riot marred a closely fought grid battle, won by Wellsville here Saturday afternoon.

Wellsville defeated Beaver, Pa. 19-12. Spectators crowded onto the gridiron when players of the two teams clashed in a flake battle but the riot was quelled quickly.

Wellsville's team showed a strong line and the Columbiana lads battered their way to three touchdowns, scored by Kessler, Checkler and Petrella.
